

SommaTech Provides Large Generic Manufacturer with Strategic Guidance to Achieve Long-Term Product Development and Manufacturing Goals

The Situation

SommaTech provided complex and highly-detailed technical strategic guidance for a large generic manufacturing client designed to facilitate throughput and enhance capacity for long-term product development, manufacturing and future expansion. The plan also established a unified path forward to address R&D operations to ultimately drive manufacturing launch initiatives.

Valuable Insight, Proven Results

- SommaTech provided valuable insight and technical guidance that aligned with current industry technology and practices while focusing on maximizing flexibility and economizing space.
- The plan enabled the client to achieve their strategic goals within a five-year timeframe.
- The SommaTech team reviewed, in a very high level of detail, existing manufacturing technology and identified areas to address and increase capacity. This ensured the R&D and manufacturing facility was a highly desirable asset to potential partners.
- A capital plan accommodating increased capacity, future technologies and enhanced facility design was created through 2010.
- Current technology alignment to assure rapid market entry with minimal regulatory impact on approved products.
- The synergies enabled the client to reduce capital assets, freeing up space and providing an equipment/process train using the SUPAC guidance precepts during process introduction. These recommendations became a part of the business strategy for the firm as well as a critical marketing piece, which are leveraged with prospective clients.

By utilizing our broad spectrum of drug development services and compliance expertise, SommaTech directly impacts the product development lifecycle, through integrated, results-oriented programs. From product development and production to clinical, regulatory and marketing expertise, SommaTech offers a highly specialized approach to closing functional gaps, designed to support critical supply chain initiatives.

About SommaTech

SommaTech, LLC is a pharmaceutical technology consulting company focused on providing clients with value-added solutions that speed pharma and biopharma products to market as well as helping clients achieve their business goals. SommaTech assists clients with strategic and tactical implementation to bring products to peak sales rapidly and fully realize the potential of the product's life cycle. Located in Somerset, New Jersey, SommaTech has over 21 successful NDAs and more than 50 product and product assessments. For additional information, please visit www.sommatechconsulting.com.